

Part time Internship Application

Thanks for your interest in being an intern for the Rack Daddies in 2023! The following explanation is probably going to be a very unprofessional paragraph of me just blabbing on about what we're looking for and how we can help you out as well but that's just cus we're chill like that, no cap. Then I'll have you answer some questions and see what we can't shake out. So we're looking someone who can really help film hunts and possibly even edit. Going to be going on local turkey hunts in PA and MD, then in the fall doing deer hunts local and across the country. Saying that, it will probably be best if this intern is local to south central PA or north central MD but then again, ya never know. This part time internship is NOT a paid position, I wish it was but I just don't got that guap right now. However, I will cover all travel expenses, lodging, food and pretty much anything else on those trips. Most of the filming will probably be with me, Axel, but may have you film for some of the other main RD guys if you can make it. I already have most of the year of hunts planned out so schedules can be compared, but I really want to teach whoever the intern is how to film professional hunts, how to take photos and just how to run any camera you can grab in general. Also another benefit is us hooking you up with a bunch of our sponsors gear as well. So there will be a lot of learning and fun experiences to come out of it! Looking forward to chatting with each one of you who apply.
